A GLISTENING WORLD.

The storm of Tuesday which clothed southern New England in ice gave to early risers on Wednesday morning a scene of crystalline beauty which is not common and which is not looked upon with pleasure by all. One can hardly imagine the terrible weight of the ice which a tree sustains, or how much it takes to break them down. If there is no wind, the damage done is small, but a high wind at the time of such a storm proves most destructive to valuable trees. The beauty of the scene under the glare of the bright sun is simply indescribable; and it takes but a few hours to melt the ice and to make the streets and yards passable.

The present winter has been more favorable to these ice storms than the average winter and they have covered all of the middle west north and west of the Ohio river, delaying traffic and doing much damage. The New York Herald explains that the high actual humidity and peculiar temperature conditions necessary to the production of heavy sleet are more readily furnished by evaporation from the neighboring ocean than the dryness of the west is now suffering from. A BILL TO ABOLISH EXECUTIONS.

Representative Eckhard of Stamford has introduced two bills to the general assembly to amend the state law with reference to the execution of convicts guilty of capital crimes, the one leaving the question of execution optional with the jury, and the other abolishing the death penalty entirely. The Stamford Daily Bulletin is right when it says: "Those persons who have made some study of the subject in all its phases, and without prejudice, would prefer the bill, which if adopted, would make the penalty life imprisonment as it is in Rhode Island. In that state the death penalty was abolished in 1852—excepting that should a life prisoner in trying to escape, or otherwise, cause the death of a person, he would be executed. This has never occurred. Rhode Island's criminality has not been notable in this half century without the gallows. On the contrary, one of our eminent chief justices is authority for the statement that murder has been less frequent and the laws more satisfactorily enforced."

It is a fact that in our courts it seems to be impossible to get a jury who will sentence a man to be executed. A case which is illustrative of this is that of Bogardus, who killed an aged citizen of New London to obtain $5, as deliberate and cold-blooded an affair as was ever tried in our courts and he realized his just deserts so much better than he would be made to, that he could not suppress his pleasure over their weakness when they gave a verdict in the second degree to save his neck.

FOR A SHORT SESSION.

It is apparent that there is a disposition on the part of many of our legislators to delay the session for dispatch in the conduct of business during the present session. This sign of improvement is thus commented upon by the New Haven Journal-Courier, which says: "We are to be judge of the manner in which the house of representatives at Hartford met Tuesday, the motion that all committees must report on the business before them by May 1st, the session of the general assembly will be a short one. The speaker of the house pleaded in vain with the supposed majority back of him, but failed to move them. The business sense of the members was uppermost and the feelings of the house were expressed."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The hare business in Maine is good. She exports a million each year, and eats another million.

When the moving picture film gets a glare upon itself it does not give any one a chance for escape.

It is a good idea to know where the snow shovel is, for the chances for a blizzard are just as good as ever.

The Maxim noiseless gun is a boon to villains, for it helps them do their worst with less chance of detection.

Nevada is now defined as the place where Mark Twain was a ten-millionaire for a few days. This is no joke.

The Atlanta Constitution remarks that it is well for the country that Japan cannot find Nevada upon the map.

Every state where Taft appears seems to have a merry-go-round for him. He is always agreeable to the attention.

The engineer who is predicting the fall of the Caton dam must depend for his faith upon some prospective earthquake.

Daniel Frohman has his spinner slaters left, and that may account for his inability where other men would have lost it.

Happy thought for today: If an absent-minded man could forget his troubles, there would be stronger hope in the rest of us.

Now that Texas owns up to having 10,000 bachelors she will have to admit that there is one there for every red-headed widow.

It is estimated that the 800 automobile tourists in Europe last year spent twenty-four millions. They ought to be a welcome crowd.

A New York female typer wanted to kiss a lad and he rushed into the street and was killed. To die is usually extra-hazardous.

When asked where all the tramps go, it may be well to remember that the Pennsylvania railroad killed six hundred of them last year.

Woman in Life and in the Kitchen.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A small onion eaten raw before retiring will often result in a restful sleep, as onions are excellent nerve soothers.

A hot bath up to the neck may save the life of a child in convulsions if given at once. If you have no thermometer at hand test the heat of the water with the elbow.

A woman with stubby fingers should never wear hoop rings, nor more than two at a time, if the fingers appear much longer.

Somnambulism is not dignified, but they are one of the best of all weight-reducing exercises. They will take one fat rapidly and safely—barring a few bruises—unless one has a tendency to heart weakness.

Which hazel is excellent for the eyes, but one should be sure that the liquid is absolutely pure before using.

Indiscriminate use of tooth powder is to be deprecated. Never use a patented article of this kind without consulting your dentist.

If the tiny person would effect height she must never have her costume in any but one tone. A blouse of different color from the skirt always detracts from the apparent stature. The sleeves and dress is quite as essential for the person who would look tall as the avoidance of rough weaves and large patterns in the material itself.

NEEDLEWORK SUGGESTIONS.

Designs to be transferred to corset-cover or fine lawn, batiste, facenet, muslin, or thin cambric, and embroidered in eyelet design with white mercerized cotton, or silk. The designs are simple and elegant, and the work is easy and profitable.

The stock matches and the sleeves are tight and long, with ruffles of net down the back.

This must be worn with a gown that matches it in color, unless it is of ecru, old gold or silver.

VIOLETS TO BE MODISH.

The millinery now in process of creation and the models in Paris indicate that there will be a large field of choice in shades, sizes, heights and materials, and that there will be less of the situation as ever time can appreciate the great advance on the part of the millinery in the above estimate. While it was practically impossible at the time of this inquiry to determine accurately the amount of real estate possessed by the negroes, the real property assessment of 1898, as recorded in the tax books of the town, amounted to $181,580, with an average of $1,027.52 to the individual. It is significant that but 83 of these assessments were under $100, showing that almost all of this property is in an improved condition. More than one-third of the assessments were above $1,000, while six of them were above $10,000, and spent $10,000. The largest single assessment was that of $23,800. It is to be remembered that these figures refer to the real property only of the 166 negroes mentioned.

There are about ten negro contractors in the town, a few of whom are doing a rapidly growing business. These are men who started out as ordinary skilled mechanics, and after accumulating a small capital, have branched out upon an independent basis. This kind of enterprise has been made possible to negroes by the unprecedented amount of building that has been carried on in the town in the last few years. Five of these combined enterprises did a combined business last year of $148,000, and gave employment constantly to about 84 men. C. C. Sims, who does a business that compares favorably with that done by the largest white contractors, was born on a farm near Jackson, 43 years ago, and spent his youth there with only such limited advantages as a Mississippi rural community of that time gave to the negro boy. Twenty-five years ago he came to Norwich, where he picked up the carpenter's trade, finally engaging in 1893 in an independent contracting business. During the last year his contracts amounted to more than $75,000. Mr. Sims frequently employs whites among the fifty or more men that work for him. His pay roll for labor is between $600 and $700 a week.

This is a splendid showing of advancement and thrift, and it would be credit to any race. The fact that those who used to think the negro jacked ability are being forced to recognize him in business life as a competitor as well as a man and a brother.

hit of "Mother Goose" rhyme on each page, beheaded or curtailed, and plan to have a girl friend or sister dress as Mother Goose, with peaked cap, broomstick and a bag filled with goose feathers on her back.

When the guests come, Mother Goose must sit at a crown to each head and give out the tablets for the guests to complete the rhymes. As fast as a boy or girl can think of the missing part of each rhyme and writes it down on the tablet, Mother Goose sticks a feather in his cap until he looks like an Apache Indian, and then writes the rhyme on the tablet.

A half hour or so should be allowed for guessing. A paper-covered copy of Mother Goose makes a suitable gift, and a little examination of the shops will end in finding all sorts of odd, inexpensive things that might be given for a second or third prize.

Soldier Barks Death Plot. It seemed to J. A. Stone, a Civil War veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 175 pounds." For severe colds, obstinate coughs, hemorrhages, asthma and to prevent pneumonia, it's the surest remedy. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by The Lee & Osgood Co.

The Secret of Long Life. A French scientist has uncovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. It's a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman of Cushing, Me. "But Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c at The Lee & Osgood Co's.
